

PORT KENNEDY PRIMARY SCHOOL

From the Principal

We were very lucky to have such nice weather this week for the first week of swimming. Students seem to be enjoying the lessons and have coped well with the change of routine. This week we had a visit from Deb Ridge, Author of 'Brown Eyed Boy', a children's story that explores the themes of being proud of our individual differences which complemented the activities done in classes around Harmony Day.

Thank you to all of the parents who completed our Tell Them From Me Parent Survey. We have had over 50 responses, which should give us some good feedback for future planning. Our year 4,5 and 6 students have all completed the student version of the survey and we are looking forward to having the student voice as a part of improvement planning.

Due to a workforce shortage for the Department of Education contractors, our lawns had been looking very overgrown for the past few weeks. Thankfully, we have had our lawns mowed this week and everything should be back on schedule.

Uniforms

We have received feedback from many parents in regards to their disappointment with the quality of the new school uniform. I'd like to join you in this frustration and let you know that we are currently working with the supplier to amend the faults and deliver a quality product, as was our original agreement. Many other schools have used this company and have high quality uniforms, so we are now working towards ensuring that our kids get access to this quality as well. Thank you for your patience and feedback which we are using when speaking with the uniform company.
